A graphic announcement for the "SERVICE-LEARNING CHALLENGE AWARD 24/25". It features the HKMU logo and the Student Affairs Office logo. The text reads: "Get subsidies and training from SAO to launch your own service projects for local and overseas communities! Submit your project ideas by 5 Oct 2024". The graphic includes three circular images: a group of students, a student interacting with a child, and a group of people in a community setting.

The Service-Learning Challenge Award 2024/2025 aims to encourage HKMU students to initiate service projects in or outside Hong Kong that address and support United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The Student Affairs Office (SAO) is now offering a subsidy of up to HKD10,000 per student to support both individuals and student teams who tackle significant challenges in the community and make a meaningful impact on society.

When a loved one or close friend passes away, we may experience deep grief and guilt, often due to unresolved issues or unspoken words. This is a stark reminder of life's unpredictability, emphasizing the need to cherish our lives and live in the present.

SAO is currently recruiting full-time students to participate as ambassadors who promote the importance of cherishing and respecting life. This theme of this programme will revolve around exploring different life stages: "Birth", "Aging", "Illness" and "Death". Ambassadors will be able to provide various services to youths, patients and the elderly. They will also explore life education in Hong Kong and Taiwan, fostering discussions about the meaning of life, then share their findings and learnings with HKMU community to advocate for a positive perspective.

The younger generation is well-acquainted with photography, able to capture and record memorable moments at any given time and place. However, the elderly often lack the necessary professional equipment and skills, leaving them without a formal personal or family photo for remembrance.

SAO is currently recruiting full-time students with an interest in photography and serving the elderly to participate in the Photography Services for the Elderly Programme 2024-2025. Participants will engage in various training sessions and personally handle makeup and photography for the elderly, capturing their personal photos, family photos, and wedding photos for them to cherish and remember.

Service-Learning Trip to Africa 2024

A group of winning representatives who participated in the Service-Learning Challenge: Make a Difference in Community 2023/2024 departed for a 14-day Service-Learning Trip to Uganda in Africa in July 2024.

Apart from joining as participant, they also needed to plan the content of the service themselves, including voluntary teaching and designing courses for 270 local students in primary and secondary schools, visiting widows and her children in slums, assisting the local team of the "Keep a Girl in School" programme to conduct sharing with about 1,400 students, distributing 4,168 hygiene products to local female students, encouraging girls to study and leading the community to improve their lives. In addition, the participating students raised funds for primary school maintenance projects before the departure and then personally participated in the maintenance work at the school. This series of extraordinary trip will definitely become the unforgettable global learning experience for HKMU students.
